

Waiver Personal Care Support Hours

This fact sheet attempts to explain a very complex subject in simple terms. There are additional complexities in each situation that may have an impact on someone's ability to receive and maintain hours of support through their Medicaid Waivers. Look at the resources section at the end of this document for ideas on where to go to best plan for your personal situation.

Understanding Medicaid Waiver Care Hours:

Medicaid Waivers are designed to fund long term support services for people with disabilities. One of the most commonly used Waiver services is hours of personal care, sometimes called attendant care. This service funds a one on one person hired directly by the person with a disability and their support team (called Consumer Directed Services) or a caregiving agency (called Agency Directed Services). The personal care attendant can help with activities of daily living (e.g., dressing, using the restroom), instrumental activities of daily living (e.g., making a meal for the person with a Waiver, cleaning up with the Waiver user), and some other tasks in certain cases. These hours are separate from nursing or other Waiver services.

Asking for Service Hours:

The number of authorized hours of weekly care varies based upon the needs and support schedule of the person with a disability. Anyone using a Waiver should be prepared to demonstrate why they need the hours requested. For individuals under 21 years of age, they will request hours through the Early Periodic Screening Diagnosis and Treatment (EPSDT) Program using the DMAS-7, which must be completed by a medical professional (e.g. pediatrician, RN) to describe support times needed for various tasks. They will also need to complete very similar forms called the DMAS-97 A/B and the DMAS-99 that will be filled out with either a Waiver Service Facilitator or personal care agency. For individuals over age 21, users will only fill out the DMAS-97AB and the DMAS-99, also while working with either a Waiver Service Facilitator or personal care agency.

For DD Waiver users, that request will then be submitted and reviewed by the Support Coordinator, and reviewed by the Department of Behavioral Health and Developmental Services (DBHDS). For CCC Plus Waiver users, that request will be submitted to the Care Coordinator through your Managed Care Organization for authorization. For CCC Plus Waiver users with HIPP, the Department of Medical Assistance Services (DMAS) will review your request. In all cases, the final party to see the request (i.e., DBHDS, your managed care plan, or DMAS) will review what has been submitted and authorize the service in full or part, pend the request and ask for more information, or deny the request.

Think about your request ahead of time. Here are some tips to ensure your request goes as smoothly as possible:

- Start planning well in advance of your annual authorization date (60 days), or ASAP if you think you may need a change
- If you're using EPSDT hours, draft a note or sample form for your doctor to help them know the home care needs as they do not often see their patient in a home setting and provide the forms well in advance, then return them to your support team as quickly as possible
- Create a sample weekly calendar to demonstrate when support hours are needed, showing when natural supports are and are not available
- Write a narrative explaining why you need support at certain times (e.g., for help safely accomplishing certain tasks)
- Clearly explain any changes in requests from past authorizations (e.g., change in work schedule or natural support availability, new medical need, etc.)
- Ensure your request includes on supports care attendants are intended to provide through Waivers
- Tie requests for all services to safety needs
- Ask for more frequent contacts with team members all year to establish a strong relationship and ensure they are clear on your needs
- Ask for team members to complete as much of the required paperwork when meeting with you or on the phone so they can hammer out any details and so that items get done and not put on the "back burner"
- If working with a Care Coordinator, ask if they have a DD expert on staff they can consult

Working with Your Support Team:

The more closely a Waiver users works with their Support Team and understands every member's role and the expectations, the better off the system will work. This table can be used to help track that information.

Team Member	Total Caseload	Contact Frequency	What Role They Play/Expectations for Help	Contact Information
DD Waiver Support Coordinator
Waiver Service Facilitator
Personal Care Agency
Fiscal Agent
CCC Plus Care Coordinator

Meeting Challenges:

If a Waiver user believes the hours or support needed are not being made available, there are options they can explore.

- If you are struggling to hear back from someone in your support team in a timely manner or with the help/information you need, contact their supervisor and request a call and/or meeting
- If you are working with a Care Coordinator, ask if they have a DD expert on their team who can help lend advice or other support
- Appeal denied or decreased hours within 30 days in writing using the appeal rights sent to you, using the tips on page one of this handout for ideas on what to add to strengthen your appeal request
- Know that denials of services through Managed Care Organizations can then also be appealed to DMAS directly before going to a Circuit Court appeal
